

IWSC 2024

9th International Weed Science Congress

Dear Friends and Colleagues

On behalf of the Local Organizing Committee (LOC), it gives me immense pleasure to invite you to participate in the forthcoming International Weed Science Congress that will take place from July 7-11, 2024, in Jerusalem, Israel.

The IWSS Board together with the LOC are currently establishing a Scientific Program Committee, to offer an up-to-date scientific program including oral presentations and posters covering the most important challenges in weed science today. Well renowned world scientists to lead a wide range of topics and sessions will be invited.

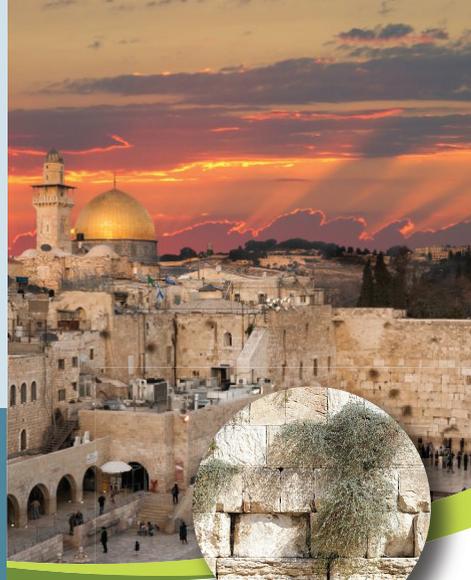

In keeping with the tradition, there will also be optional workshops and training courses before the congress starts, and you are welcome to propose topics. In addition, professional excursions encompassing the advanced Israeli agriculture combined with touristic attractions are planned, which will accommodate both scientists and accompanying persons to join and enjoy the congress. We would like to emphasize that the congress is open to weed scientists from all over the world.

Jerusalem is the holiest city for all the three Abrahamic faiths (Judaism, Christianity, and Islam) visited by >3.5 million tourists every year from all over the globe and boasts of > 50 Christian churches, 33 Muslim mosques, and 300 Jewish synagogues in the city to mesmerize the guests.

Israel is not only the most advanced country in the field of agriculture applying artificial intelligence, but also in other streams of science. The LOC has the most experienced and renowned weed scientists who are trying hard to have a memorable congress.

We look forward to your participation.
